

Pathways to research leadership
An initiate of the Emerging Stroke Clinician & Scientist (ESCS) Special Interest Group of the Stroke Society of Australasia

Facilitators: Kate Hayward, Nawaf Yassi, Liam Johnson

Event details: 1-5pm on Tuesday 7th August in Workshop Room 4 (Room E3.4) at the International Convention Centre in Sydney

1.00-1.05	Introduction	Kate Hayward
Scientific communication
1.05-1.20	Using digital communication to interact across audiences: patients, colleagues, ...	Carmen Lahiff-Jenkins
1.20-1.35	Writing grants and fellowships: Tips for success	Damien Easton
1.35-1.50	Presentations with a bang: Flexibility in style	Julie Bernhardt
1.50-2.05	Discussion panel	Carmen, Damien, Julie
How to find your feet in stroke research?
2.05-2.20	10 biggest lessons I have learned as an academic clinician	Tim Kleinig
2.20-2.35	Combatting research isolation	Erin Godecke
2.35-2.50	Building international collaborations	Adrian Parry-Jones
2.50-3.05	Discussion panel	Tim, Erin, Adrian
3.05-3.30	Afternoon tea break
Effective support of emerging clinicians and scientists
3.30-3.45	What are the roles: mentor, sponsor, supervisor etc	Natasha Lannin
3.45-4.00	How to mentor?	David Copland
4.00-4.15	How to transition from mentee to mentor	Skye Coote
4.15-4.30	Discussion panel	Natasha, David, Skye
Emerging Stroke Clinician and Scientist SIG SSA
4.30-4.40	What is it, why become involved, what are we hoping to achieve	Kate Hayward
4.40-4.55	Discussion panel	Kate Hayward, Liam Johnson, Nawaf Yassi
4.55-5.00	Wrap up of session	Nawaf Yassi

This session will be followed by the 1st AGM of the Emerging Stroke Clinician and Scientist SIG (5.00-6.00pm) and networking drinks (6.00-7.00pm).